Career Counselling: Impact on the Future Generation of India

The statistics have it, In India the ratio of career counselors to secondary school students is highly unbalanced. There are over 300 million students in need for career guidance and only 1 lakh career counsellors present. This huge gap needs to be addressed so as to reach the right guidance to the large number of students who are confused about the career choices they should make.

Each and every school will appoint a career counselor as per NEP 2020

By 2030 India needs more than 18 Lakh + counsellors

Career Counseling business is growing by 10% annually

India needs 15 lakh counsellors for 315 million students

President Droupadi Murmu graced the 18th convocation of National Institute of Technology, Kurukshetra. The President urged the students to choose a career that gives them satisfaction and a sense of meaning in life. Details: presidentofindia.nic.in/press-release-...

About Course

Guidance and counseling becomes essential need for every youth. Either its academic or non-academic, every life decision supported by counsellor may lead to a better result. Guidance and counseling is considered an integral part of the total educational process as it helps in achieving educational objectives for the overall development of students/youth. These services in school have gained significance as they aim at the total development of the individual in all aspects of life, i.e. intellectual, personal-social, educational and career. Guidance and counseling, both as an approach and as a service, can only be followed and practised by personnel adequately trained in its theory and practice. The diploma in guidance and counseling will offer training to teachers, teacher-educators, school administrators, untrained guidance professionals, students pursuing education and others willing to work as a guidance and counselling service provider.

Background

In view of the experience of having offered different guidance and counselling programmes for almost ten years in different educational settings, we have come up with a unique module-based programme for school counsellors, teacher educators, and aspiring counsellors. We also designed a unique Career-Lab, which is based on NEP 2020 and NCF 2023. This Career-Lab will cater to the multidimensional needs of students, schools and parents.
